

25.02.2022

The winners of the competition “Young Scientists’ Achievements” were awarded by BSUIR

On February 24 during the University Council, the Rector of BSUIR Vadim Bogush awarded the participants of the competition “Young Scientists’ Achievements”. The categories of the competition were “Scientists”, “Ph.D. students”, “Bachelor and Master Students”.

Senior Researcher of the “Applied Plasmonics” Center Ksenia Girel, Ph.D. Student of the Department of Micro- and Nanoelectronics Nikita Lushpa, and Master Student of the Department of Micro- and Nanoelectronics Alexander Burko were awarded university diplomas.

The participants of the competition that took the second and third places were awarded Thanksgiving Letters by the Rector. The second place is shared by the Lecturer of the Department of Information Systems and Technologies of the Institute of Information Technologies of BSUIR Andrey Savenko, Ph.D. Student of the Department of Electronic Technique and Technology Inna Revinskaya, and Master student of the Department of Micro- and Nanoelectronics Vladimir Fedosenko.

The third place is shared by the Senior Lecturer of the Information and Computer-Aided Systems Design Artem Feschenko, Ph.D. Student of the Information and Computer-Aided Systems Design Vladislav Kazyuchits, Ph.D. Student of the Department of Micro- and Nanoelectronics Leonid Roschin, and Student Alexander Birillo.

Also, at the University Council, Vadim Bogush awarded the Head of the Department of Infocommunication Technologies Viktor Tsvetkov a Certificate of Professor.

*Photos provided by the BSUIR Press Office