

April 30, 2022

XII International Scientific and Methodological Conference «E-Learning – Educational Environment of the XXI Century» was held at BSUIR

The scientific forum was opened by First Deputy Minister of Education of the Republic of Belarus Irina Starovoitova. Hybrid format allows you to bring together specialists from different countries. This year, authors from Belarus, Russia, China, Uzbekistan, etc. presented reports for participation in the conference.

The rector of BSUIR Vadim Bogush also made a welcoming speech.

At the plenary session, the participants discussed global trends and their impact on the education system, the experience of using distance learning technologies at Belarusian universities. One of the plenary reports concerned the regulatory regulation of distance education. The discussion of the topic continued at the round table.

After that, the reports of the participants were heard at the sections "Distance education: problems, development, prospects", "Tools, methods and means of distance learning", "Innovative technologies in the educational process of training military specialists".

*Photos provided by the BSUIR Press Office