

19 – 23.01.2026

Events Dedicated to the Celebration of the Belarusian Science Day Held at BSUIR

Last week, BSUIR celebrated the Belarusian Science Day. A number of significant events took place – here are the highlights:

● From January 20 to 22, BSUIR hosted the 3rd Young Scientists' School. This large-scale event was jointly organized with the Council of Young Scientists under the Ministry of Education and brought together more than 300 young researchers from all regions of Belarus. (more details in Russian).

● On January 22, the President of the Republic of Belarus, Aleksandr Lukashenko, presented a Professor's Certificate to Alexander Gusinsky, Doctor of Technical Sciences, Head of the Information and Measurement Systems Department.

● Representatives of BSUIR took part in the Republican Meeting of the Scientific Community, which was held on January 23 at the Minsk International Exhibition Center. At this event, leading scholars of the University received high awards:

- A Letter of Gratitude from the Prime Minister of the Republic of Belarus was awarded to Konstantin Kovalev, Senior Researcher of the R&D Laboratory “Telecommunication Devices and Systems”;
- Certificates of Merit of the State Committee on Science and Technology were awarded to Alexander Gusinsky, Head of the Information and Measurement Systems Department; Eugene Sinkevich, Deputy Head of the R&D Laboratory “Electromagnetic Compatibility of Radio Electronic Equipment”; and Academician Vladimir Labunov, Chief Researcher of the University’s R&D Laboratory “Integrated Micro- and Nanosystems” (more details in Russian).

● Ceremonial meetings of the Scientific and Technical Council and the University Council, dedicated to the Belarusian Science Day, also included award ceremonies honoring faculty members and researchers for their contribution to the development of scientific research and innovation.

● The January issue of the BSUIR newspaper Impulse, dedicated to the Belarusian Science Day, is currently being prepared for publication.

BSUIR sincerely thanks all participants of the events and warmly congratulates the University staff on receiving these high awards.